Subject: Draft Communication Strategy

Hi, Brent.

As you requested, attached is a copy of our “master” communication strategy for the Upper Animas Mining Districts. As we conduct activities in the watershed, we have been developing activity-specific communication strategies, too. All of these reference back to, and fall under the umbrella of, this overarching communication strategy.

This has recently be updated, but it is a living document, so we will revise it as conditions change at the site.

We consider our communication strategies to be confidential, so please do not distribute this outside of your agency.

If you have any questions or would like more information, please let me know.

Cynthia
